

MAROONED AT NIGHT

Angry Tennesseans Take Revenge on Ruffianly St. Louis Steamboatmen.

THE EXCITING TRIP OF THE EAGLE UP THE OHIO RIVER.

Tiger Tail Citizens, Harried by Roustabouts, Give Them a Taste of the Klux—One Negro Disappears—The Invasion of Cairo—An Exciting Experience.

The steamboat Eagle got back to port this morning from the Tennessee river. So full of incident was it that the boat when she returned to-day had not one man of the crew who started out with, and had also been obliged to get rid of its mate to save the vessel from a mutiny which would have been destructive to property and would have resulted in the loss of life.

The Eagle is owned by the St. Louis & Cape Girardeau T. Co., and on this last trip was commanded by Capt. Henry Layhe. The first mate was J. B. Smith and the second mate was J. D. Porter. The boat had a heavy trip before it, and as usual the roustabouts down on the levee heard that the Captain needed men badly, and wouldn't go on the boat without a promise of higher wages than the others. The men who were on the boat were now paying, Capt. Layhe had to do the best he could, and managed, after considerable difficulty, to get the thirty-five men he wanted by offering unusual concessions in the way of light work and good food. As it was, the crowd that stood on the forward deck when the boat swung up her stage and pulled out from the wharfboat was a dangerous one, men who had been loafing around the town drinking bad whisky for weeks and had, for various reasons, become anxious to get away from the city and reach some place where they were not so well known. The first mate had several quarrels with the men while the boat was being loaded, and just after she started he got into a fight with one man and whipped him badly.

GOT RID OF THE MATE.
The other men began to make threats against him and Capt. Layhe thought it the wisest plan to get rid of the mate, who was not at all averse to a fight every half hour. If the roustabouts wanted it, so he was put ashore at Carondelet, and the boat continued its trip without incident past Cairo to the Ohio river, and up that stream a short distance to Tiger Tail, a settlement at the junction of the Ohio and the Gorkader Rivers. There are a score of houses along Tiger Tail, and a Post-office, and two or three stores. The people are quiet and peace-loving, and they don't like fighting. The Eagle tied up to the banks there and began to load the horses she was towing with lumber. After two or three days of the work the roustabouts got tired of the monotony and began to fight.

A VIOLATION COMMITTED.
Several of them were discharged by Capt. Layhe, who feared they would demoralize the rest of the men, and were paid off and put ashore. They made the little town hum while their money lasted, and the people of the place didn't like it. The roustabouts were standing on the bank near the Eagle one evening, when three or four of the Tiger Tail men snatched up a rifle and fired at the boat. "You fellows want to go across the river to-night, don't you?" said one of the Tennesseans. "Not much," said one of the roustabouts. "We are going back to Cairo on that boat."

"We've got a boat down here a piece," said the Tiger Tail spokesman, "and we want you men to jump in right now. And we don't want no fooling, either."

MAROONED THE RUFFIANS.
All of the Tiger Tail men had pistols stuck in their waistbands, and the roustabouts took a look at their faces and saw they were business. Without a word more they went down to the boat pointed out by the man who had spoken and got in. Two of the Tiger Tail Citizens' Committee followed them and sat in the stern.

"Pick up those oars and pull the boat across the river," said one of the escort to the roustabouts. None of them moved, and a pistol was leveled at the crew in a jiffy by the man who had given the order.

"You are not in St. Louis now. More of you will get holes through you if you don't do what I tell you," said the Tiger Tail man. The roustabouts were thoroughly cowed and pulled the boat over as fast as they could.

A PLOT TO ROB.
When they got to the other side one of them came up to the two Tiger Tail men. "Boss," he said, "I'm broke and my wife lives in St. Louis. If you'll help me along with half a dollar, I'll tell you something about that crowd on the river."

"That you'd like to know," one of the men gave him the money. He then gave the names of two men on the Eagle, who he said, had plotted to rob the post-office that night. The Tennesseans went to Capt. Layhe and told him of the story. "If he said," "I have two men on the boat by the names given, and I don't know whether they would rob a post-office or not."

"Send them up to the Post-office this evening, and we will watch it, letting them think that only the Postmaster is there," said one of the Tiger Tail citizens.

SAW THE KLUX.
Capt. Layhe gave the two men a blank letter to mail and started them for the Post-office after supper. The men of Tiger Tail had evidently made up their minds to make the name of the town a terrible one to hear about all along the river. An hour after the two had set out, Capt. Layhe and Pilot Cochran went to the bows of the Eagle when through the darkness came a firing line from the direction of Tiger Tail. It was one of the roustabouts who had gone to the Post-office. He was blinded by fear and ran over the two men sitting on the boat, falling head over heels, jumping up with a yell of terror he saw who they were, and in his joy ran to them and threw his arms around their necks, begging them to keep him on the boat.

DID THEY KILL HIM?
"Where's the other man?" asked Capt. Layhe. The roustabout said he didn't know. A mile from the boat, on the road to the Post-office, a party of "Klux-Klux" had sprung out of the bushes, and had pointed rifles and shotguns at them. He ran and did not see what had become of his companion. One of the men had shot at him as he fled. The other roustabout did not appear on the Eagle again, and nobody has seen him since.

When the Eagle got to Cairo again all of the roustabouts were paid off and discharged, and Capt. Layhe felt much relieved when he saw them going up the river. An hour after they put ashore they were keeping the whole police force of Cairo busy. A story was telegraphed from Cairo that the Eagle had taken a crew from the Work-house and had put them ashore at Cairo. This is a mistake. Capt. William Layhe, and the crew shipped, said "The Eagle took the men as they were telegraphed from here. So far as we know there were no Work-house men among them."

Dispute Over Pension Money.
Frank Godova put his pension money in care of his boarding boss, John M. Dieterle. After many months and in addition to the amount they finally disputed over $50. Godova carried the trouble before Justice Kane. Dieterle does not induce in a book-keeper, and so was doubtful about a good many things that Godova said. Justice Kane took the case under advisement until to-morrow.

CHARLES RIPLEY'S WILL

Its Provisions Contested in the Courts—Suit Against Sprinkle.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 8.—The contest over the last will of Charles Ripley, who died recently, leaving an estate of over $75,000, was opened up in the Probate Court yesterday. Ripley's grandson, one Vandevere, is claiming to be the executor of the will, which makes William Vandevere executor. Ripley made a will previous to the one offered for probate which named his grandson Vandevere executor, and no idea was entertained but that it was the only one in existence until the one which is now contested was made public. Vandevere charges that undue influence was brought to bear on Ripley, and will in consequence make an attempt to break it.

Mrs. FETTERELLA DURHAM'S SUIT.
CHICAGO, July 8.—Yesterday Mrs. Fetterella Durham, whose attempts to turn over large amounts of money to the Salvation Army in this city against the wishes of her relatives caused much comment some time ago, has filed a bill against her brother-in-law, W. H. Stubbings, charging him with defrauding her of her inheritance of $7,000, and demanding accounting. Stubbings she explains was the trusted manager of the family, but she alleges he has abused the confidence reposed in him, and that his pretended efforts to shield her fortune from being dissipated is a scheme for his own enrichment. Mrs. Durham is the daughter of Peter Johnson, a well known resident of Chicago, but since her Salvation Army experience she has married and now lives in California.

PROHIBITION LAW VIOLATED.
DEADWOOD, S. D., July 8.—A. J. Frowman, Judge of the County Court, has rendered a decision in the case of the State against Senzars, Smith, Parker and Jacobs, against whom information was filed for violating the State prohibition law. The defendants were charged with the transportation of the liquor on the ground that the law was unconstitutional, because the act covered more than one subject and was not the title. The point had never been raised before in all litigation that has grown out of the act in the State. Judge Frowman dismissed the defendants. The State will at once appeal to the Supreme Court.

DESERVED BY HER HUSBAND.
NEW YORK, July 8.—Josephine Mallard has brought an action in the Supreme Court for separation from her husband, Henry Mallard, the Illinois chieftain and manufacturer, on the ground of abandonment. She says she married the defendant in this city in 1878 and that he deserted her in Paris last March.

BROOKLYN SUGAR REFINERY.
BROOKLYN, N. Y., July 8.—James A. Taylor applied before the Supreme Court to-day for the dissolution of the Brooklyn Sugar Refining Co. He is the man who obtained a court injunction against the trust. He claims that his stock in the Brooklyn company has been forfeited by the company. Judge Cullen adjourned the hearing until July 15.

SPRINKLES SUED FOR $1,000,000.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—The steamer Australia, from Honolulu, brings news that George MacFarlane, half-brother of the Waikiki plantation, has brought suit against the Hawaiian Commercial Co., of which Charles Sprinkle is president, for taking forcible and illegal possession of the plantation. One million dollars damages are claimed.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

The General Assembly to Hold the Next Session at Toledo, O.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 8.—The General Executive Board of Knights of Labor has decided upon Toledo, O., as the meeting place for the next session of the General Assembly of the Knights of Labor. Secretary of District Assembly No. 72 of this city was notified to effect yesterday by General Secretary-Treasurer.

The General Secretary said last night in reference to the change of time and place for the annual session of the General Assembly. "The time settled upon Tuesday, Nov. 10. I anticipate a very large convention," said Mr. Hayes, "owing to the extraordinary increase in the membership of the order."

INTERNATIONAL FEDERATION OF MINERS.

NEW YORK, July 8.—M. Burt, who has returned to London from Cologne, where he has been attending a convention of mining delegates, said that the French, German and Belgian. Mr. Burt states that the constitution of the International Federation of Miners has been framed and will be submitted to the Miners' Congress in London in 1892.

MINERS STILL UNDER ARMS.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 8.—An attempt to bring about a voluntary disarmament of the miners has proved a failure. Each party suspects the other is not acting in good faith, and the consequence is a deadlock. Work is proceeding at Gilman, New Castle and Franklin, but nothing doing at Black Diamond.

THE FIRE RECORD.

La Providence Convent in Canada Burned To-Day.
ST. HILAIRE, Quebec, July 8.—The Convent of La Providence, commonly known as that of the sister of the convent, situated on Richelieu river, below Beloeil, Quebec, on Tuesday, July 7, p. m. the convent was wrapped in flames and there was no hope of saving any part of the building.

NEW YORK CAR STABLES.
NEW YORK, July 8.—Fire broke out at 12 o'clock to-day in the Sixth avenue car stables at Sixth and Forty-third street. Three hundred cars were stored in the building, and a fourth alarm was sent out for further assistance. At 1 o'clock the fire was under control, and the building was removed safely. The building was badly damaged.

LONDON DISTILLERY BURNED.
LONDON, July 8.—The London Distillery at Deptford, a suburb of this city, is on fire. The large wooden building, which was used for storing and distilling spirits, was destroyed by fire. The cause of the fire is not known.

LOSS OF $40,000.
EASTLAND, Tex., July 8.—The most valuable business block in town burned. Loss, $40,000; insurance, $50,000.

RUSSIAN CROPS.

Springs Wheat Promises a Good Yield—Devastating Gophers.

MOSCOW, July 8.—Official reports from the province of Taurida show that spring wheat promises a good harvest, which will compensate for the deficient yield of the winter crop. The wheat is improving, owing to the rains. In the Charkov and Poltava Districts, copious rains have fallen and they have produced average crops of wheat, oats and barley, which are in excellent condition.

DESTROYED BY GOPHERS.

TACOMA, Wash., July 8.—Wheat crop is in danger of being destroyed by gophers and squirrels. For several days wheat buyers have been told that the wheat is in danger. The gophers are doing a great deal of damage. The wheat is being destroyed in large numbers in the Big Bend and Palouse Districts. Some instances not less than 10 per cent of the wheat has been destroyed. The devastation continues it is estimated that not less than 17,000,000 bushels of grain will be destroyed.

The Fall Was Fatal.

C. O. RAYNER, a carpenter, residing at 1041 Pine street, fell from the roof of a new house on Grove street, between Grand and Madison streets, and was so seriously injured that he died at the hospital last night.

MADE TWO TRIALS.

Persistent Efforts of a Firebug to Burn the Dorris Row.

THE INCENDIARY SEEN LOWERING HIMSELF FROM THE ROOF.

The Department Had Not Unhitched on Their Return From the First Fire When the Second Alarm Came In—All the Gas Turned On—The Fire Distinct—Other Blazes.

Two fires started within thirty-five minutes of each other last night, the building 101 Olive street, and the firemen and Salvage Corps men are both most firm in their conviction that they were of incendiary origin. The building is on the northeast corner of Eleventh and Olive streets and is a part of the property known as the Dorris Row. The Haskell Engineering Co., occupy the ground floor, A. Kuhlo & Co., machinists, being located on the second floor and the St. Louis Surgical Instrument Co. on the third or top floor. At 9:36 o'clock last night an alarm was turned in from box 65, at Eleventh and Locust streets, by some one who discovered that the building was on fire. The Salvage Corps and No. 6 Engine Co. arrived in a few minutes and found a box of rubbish in the hall at the rear of the building. This box is immediately under two coal oil lamps which hang from the door leading to the hall. Some of the rubbish was found in the hall, and it was thought there was some oil in the rubbish. The flames were extinguished before the lamp broke or it would probably have been impossible to have saved the building. As it was there was not more than $25 damage done.

THE SECOND ALARM.
Just as the Fire Department and Salvage Corps got back to their respective houses were unhitching their teams and putting things away another alarm came in from the same box. Back they hastened to find that the same building was again ablaze. Only this time the flames were coming out of the front of the building through the attic windows above the third floor. It was found that rubbish was being burned there and that the fire was of a more serious character than the first. The men of No. 6 Company, however, soon extinguished it with chemical while the Salvage Corps had once more covered the goods in the building. The second blaze burned the front of the building, and the flames were before the flames were downed and it will take $100 or more to cover the loss occasioned by the second blaze.

AT THE INCENDIARY'S WORK.
Capt. Evans of the Salvage Corps says there is no doubt of the first fire being of incendiary origin and his men hold the same opinion. They say that where the fire started in the first place on the second floor of the building, and the flames came out of the front of the building, and the flames were before the flames were downed and it will take $100 or more to cover the loss occasioned by the second blaze.

TURNED ON THE GAS.
Another very suspicious circumstance reported by the Salvage Corps men is their belief that the fire was started by the first fire they found the gas jet on the first floor burning low, while all the others on the floor were turned on full force, and the windows were broken and the flames evidently not been turned on long, or the room would have become filled with gas and the flames would have been extinguished. It is believed that the incendiary, finding his first attempt to destroy the building unsuccessful and being unable to get the fire into the building a second time owing to the board being placed against it from the inside, climbed up on the roof of the one-story portion of the building in the rear, and by placing a board up to the second-story window effected an entrance into the second-story building in the attic. There is a hole in the brick wall of the attic which affords an opening to the attic of the building, which adjoins on the west, and it is believed that the incendiary would probably have spread to the adjoining building.

THE INCENDIARY'S ESCAPE.
Capt. Evans says when his men saw the man on the roof when they were first responding to the second alarm they thought he was probably a fireman and paid no attention to him. They were in a hurry to get to the time to spread their covers. Afterward when they saw the board being lowered from the roof, they were convinced that the man was probably an incendiary, but they did not have time to do anything to him at the time he was lowered down, showing that the building had been entered that way. It dawned on them that the man was probably an incendiary, but they did not have time to do anything to him at the time he was lowered down, showing that the building had been entered that way.

JUDGE & DOLPH,

The Boycotted Druggists,

Able to Take Care of Themselves and Their Customers.

The public knows that the wholesale druggists of this city have backed up the "Retail Druggists' Combine" in their boycott against us, and since June 5 have refused to sell us any goods whatever. This they have done in order to force us into the combine, the sole object of which is the maintenance of the highest possible prices.

WE, JUDGE & DOLPH,

Are the only druggists in the city who have declared

from first to last that under no circumstances would we enter the combine, but would continue to do business on our own old plan.

When the combine breaks the public may thank us!

The statement usually made by druggists that the raise in prices which the combine has secured was compelled by the manufacturers of patent medicines is false. There was only a fair prospect that the retailers might secure the co-operation of some manufacturers.

THE MANUFACTURERS ARE SELLING TO US.

And at the prices that wholesalers buy at, for we buy in quantities. The public may trust us to serve them always, and always at the very low prices that have brought this boycott upon us.

Fourth and Market

Is a little out of the way, but the people come to us just the same and save money.
